UAW REJECTS FORD PAY BOOST

Prompt Warning May Have Given U.S. Fleet Chance to Escape Nip Sneak Attack

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Vice-Adm. Theodore S. Wilkinson testified today warships caught in the Japanese assault on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, might have had an hour and a half to get out to sea had Washington sent an urgent message as soon as he advised.

The former chief of naval intelligence also told the congressional Pearl Harbor committee he believed the fleet would have been in greater danger if it had been attacked at Lahaina Roads, another fleet anchorage in Hawaii, or on the west coast.

Wilkinson said he suggested to Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, by 9:30 a.m. Dec. 7, that a message be sent to the fleet. He said he was prompted by "fighting words" contained in an intercepted Japanese diplomatic message.

"He did not send a message immediately after that conversation?" asked Senator Lucas, D., Ill.

"So I understand—not while I was there," replied Wilkinson. The Admiral agreed that Stark had the authority to do so.

Sent at 11:30

Lucas commented that a message was not sent until 11:30 a.m. He calculated that Stark had at least an hour and a half difference "between the time one was sent and the time it could have been sent."

"How many ships could leave Pearl Harbor in an hour and a half?" Lucas asked.

Wilkinson said a battleship or a cruiser could leave every ten minutes, with one destroyer between the larger vessels. If pressed, he said, two destroyers could be sandwiched in but that might lead to a channel-blocking collision.

The admiral roughly estimated the ships in Pearl Harbor as six battleships, six cruisers and a dozen destroyers.

Wilkinson gave his opinion on the relative safety of the Pearl Harbor anchorage in response to the questioning of Representative Murphy, D., Pa., who asked:

Less Secure

"If the fleet was behind the Roads instead of in Pearl Harbor would it have been less secure?"

"I would say it would have been less secure because it would also have been exposed to submarine attack while there would have been the same danger from air attack," Wilkinson said.

"Would it have been any more safe at Puget sound or San Pedro (on the west coast)?"

"Rather less safe," Wilkinson said, "the anti-aircraft protection was not as complete as at Pearl Harbor."

Lucas said he wants to know more about the navy's efforts to find some trace of the Japanese naval units it lost track of three weeks before Pearl Harbor.

These carriers and battleships were the ones, the Illinois senator noted to a reporter, which loosed the crippling blow against Hawaii.

Search Into Past Widens

Study of Alfred L. Cline held in San Francisco, Calif., on forgery charges while authorities probe the many clues leading them to believe he was instrumental in the deaths of at least seven widows, most of them wealthy. As an attempt is made to identify ashes of woman who died Nov. 19 in Portland, Ore., her cremation ordered by Cline, police in several other cities are investigating mysterious disappearance of women known to be associated with Cline. Photo by Acme-NEA photographer Harlin Smith, during questioning of the ex-convict by San Francisco district attorney. In addition to the deaths of five widows, police Tuesday announced Cline may also be involved in a sixth following a letter from a Ripley, Calif., doctor who said his wife, two sons and a young woman left with Cline 20 years ago. The girl mysteriously died and her nude body was shipped back to the doctor.

Matsuoka Blocked Peace Hope In '41; Awaited German Plans

TOKYO, Dec. 18 (AP)—Japan's answer to an American plan to preserve peace in the Pacific was blocked for eight days in the spring of 1941 while Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka sought to learn Germany's attitude toward the negotiations, Prince Konoye wrote in his memoirs.

To gain time, Matsuoka proposed a neutrality pact with the United States, a suggestion summarily rejected by Cordell Hull, then U. S. secretary of state.

Konoye said that earlier Matsuoka, returning from Germany in a "bad mood," prevented Japanese acceptance of the American plan eight months before Pearl Harbor. That plan, Konoye wrote, was based on an American promise to help obtain Chungking's agreement to peace in China.

Pressed by political, army and navy leaders to quit stalling—they saw in the American plan an opportunity to pull Japan's chestnuts out of the China fire—Matsuoka forwarded his answer to the United States on May 12.

Shortly thereafter he received from Germany a reply which sought to use the negotiations as a means of preventing the U. S. from convoying goods to Britain, under threat that such action would force Japan to enter the war.

The Associated Press obtained Konoye's memoirs three days before his suicide. They are being translated, and copies have been given to Joseph B. Keenan who will prosecute Japan's leading war criminals.

Matsuoka told the emperor on May 8 that if the U. S. should join in the European war, "Japan would naturally have to stand on the side of Germany and Italy," the former premier wrote.

HOUSE OKAYS UNO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The house passed today, with minor changes, a senate-approved bill providing for United States participation in the United Nations organization. The roll call vote was 344 to 15.

Store at Burley Damaged by Fire

BURLEY, Dec. 18—Fire of unknown origin which began last night in the rear of the O. P. Skaggs grocery store, was discovered and extinguished early today, but there was considerable damage.

At 12:30 a. m., Sadie Biles, night telephone operator, was surprised to receive a steady signal from the closed store. She immediately notified the police and Bud Talbert, policeman who investigated, reported the blaze to the fire department.

When the flames were put out it was found that the front windows were cracked by heat, partitions had been burned and there was smoke damage.

Costly Fire Razes Coast Town Shops

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Dec. 18 (AP)—A disastrous dawn fire, which burned out the Granada theater, one of the city's largest, a half-dozen shops and numerous offices, was controlled today after a three-hour fight by most of the city's fire apparatus.

Accurate estimates of damage were unavailable, but police in a preliminary report said it might reach several hundred thousand dollars. Cause of the blaze, which started in a malt shop, was not immediately determined.

Firemen saved an adjacent Sears Roebuck and company retail store after a stiff battle, but said there probably would be some water damage.

Stalin Back At His Desk; Gone 68 Days

MOSCOW, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—Generalissimo Stalin returned to the Kremlin from a nine-weeks vacation today while the big three foreign ministers, working in deep secrecy, tried to thresh out an atomic bomb policy.

The announcement of Stalin's return to work was carried prominently in all Moscow newspapers. It appeared to dispose of rumors that he is ill. Stalin went to Sochi, a Black sea spa, on Oct. 9 for his first vacation since 1941.

Only the bare facts that Stalin had returned to Moscow on Dec. 17 after his vacation and resumed his official duties were contained in the announcement.

Stalin will be 66 in three days, on Dec. 21.

His return coincided with the second meeting of the big three foreign ministers late Monday afternoon. Foreign Commissar Viacheslav M. Molotov, Secretary of State James Byrnes and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin talked for two hours and 20 minutes, adjourning at 6:30 p. m.

They were enforcing a policy of secrecy about their discussions which will not be altered until they have made substantial progress, probably not until the conference ends.

"A general exchange of views" was the only available description of the second meeting. The three leaders were to meet again today.

"No news releases" was the answer in all quarters. Both Byrnes and Bevin had warned correspondents earlier that little news could be expected because the talks were largely exploratory.

HAW HAW DOOMED

LONDON, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—William Joyce, "Lord Haw Haw" of the German radio, lost his chance for life today when the house of lords dismissed his appeal, and he will be hanged for treason.

Troop-Laden Ship Battered By Storm; Forced to Return

LONDON, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—The U. S. heavy cruiser Augusta, loaded with homeward-bound American troops, flashed word that she had been damaged by heavy seas in a north Atlantic gale today and was turning back for emergency repairs in a British port.

Simultaneously, British naval monitors intercepted a call from the American aircraft carrier Wasp reporting that it also was in trouble after a 48-hour battering in the Atlantic.

The Wasp was en route to Britain to pick up returning American troops when it plowed head-on into the storm Sunday.

There was no immediate word on the extent of the damage to either ship, but terse radio messages said they expected to make port some time tomorrow.

First reports indicated that neither ship was in distress and that they were proceeding to port under their own power.

The Augusta was heading for either Southampton or Portsmouth and the Wasp reported it was proceeding to Plymouth.

All shipping in the English channel and other waters around southern England was paralyzed by the storm this morning. Winds running up to 70 miles an hour were reported along the channel coast and authorities warned that there was danger of German mines being washed ashore.

Colder Weather Predicted; One Degree Recorded Here

The temperature "disappointed" many Twin Falls residents early this morning who were ready to bet that a below zero recording had been made, but the one degree minimum announced by the bureau of entomology was chilly enough, marking the coldest day of the season and one degree under Sunday's low.

Possible colder weather for tonight is forecast, with low temperatures of five below to two above predicted for the valley. Relief may come Wednesday with cloudy weather and rising temperatures, the weather bureau at Boise reported.

BUFFALO SNOWBOUND

By The Associated Press

December's first prolonged cold wave held fast over a wide section of the country today and there was no immediate relief in sight. Deaths of at least 30 persons were attributed to the cold weather. Buffalo, N. Y., and suburbs were virtually snowbound after a five-day blizzard, with falls to a depth of 68 inches.

Frigid temperatures, upward from a low of 33 below zero, dominated the northern half of the country and sub-zero readings continued from extreme northern Indiana and Illinois westward and northward through eastern Montana.

The east did not escape the icy blasts, the mercury dipping to below zero in Pennsylvania and in the northern section of Maine. Snow and rain fell in many sections of the southwest.

The coldest spot on the weather map was at Broadus, Mont., in West Yellowstone park, a biting 33 below. Reading of 25 below and downward were general throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The mercury dropped to -17 in Idaho Falls and the same frigid low was recorded in Baker, Ore. Green River, Utah, reported -3 while Salt Lake City and Ogden were relatively mild with 16 and 15, respectively. Dubois, Ida., was in the minus bracket, nine below. Twin Falls and Pocatello edged into the plus column with three and one above, respectively. Boise recorded an even zero.

A state of emergency proclaimed in Buffalo Sunday by Mayor Joseph J. Kelly was continued as business throughout the area was disrupted. In Lackawanna production at Bethlehem Steel company's plant was suspended. Further snowfall was forecast for the Buffalo district.

Trailer Town Utility Setup Assured Now

A utility building for the veterans' trailer village, which project is now under construction, has been secured at the Minidoka relocation center, along with plumbing, sewer, laundry and heating facilities.

That was announced Tuesday by U. N. Terry, American Legion commander; C. H. Detweiler, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce emergency housing committee; and Carl E. Ritchey, chairman of the Legion housing authority. The Legion is sponsoring the project on the east side of Washington courts.

They announced also that the first units of a total of 42 would be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1, and that four trucks would leave Gooding Dec. 26 to begin transporting the trailers here from Kennewick, Wash. A contract has been given Claude C. Mull, Gooding World war II veteran, and his trucks will undertake the job.

The three housing officials said that through the cooperation of the relocation center, and federal surplus property offices in Salt Lake City, Boise, Washington, D. C., and Seattle, a 20 by 100-foot building was secured. Too large for the project's needs, the structure will be cut in half before being brought here late this week.

Acquired also were sewer pipe, some bathtubs for the women's section of the building, showers and heating for the structure.

NOT ENOUGH

SHAWNEE, Kan., Dec. 18—Cpl. John G. Lally, 22, survived Bataan, the death march, three years and five months in a Japanese prison camp, malaria, beri beri, dysentery, Japanese punk-burning torture, and temporary blindness during his army service in the Pacific.

Now he has reenlisted for a three-year hitch.

CHEERY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18—Santa Claus may walk a picket line at the General Motors plant where 1,000 CIO workers are on strike, union officials said today. If weather conditions permit, plans call for children of the pickets to spend the day with their daddies—and Santa Claus—in the plant's vicinity.

COZY

GALLUP, N. M., Dec. 18—With the temperature 10 below zero, E. Parker Sellard took no chances on the anti-freeze in his automobile.

He had an idea which he said worked like a charm. He drove alongside the Gallup brick plant and parked in the cozy warmth of the roaring kilns.

Love

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 18 (U.P.)—The desk sergeant was rather bored at first when the woman phoned asking police to find her husband.

"I don't know where he is," she said, "but he should be home with me, because we love each other very much."

Spud Record

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The department of agriculture reported today that 425,131,000 bushels of potatoes were produced this year compared with 383,134,000 last year and 375,091,000 the 10-year (1934-43) average.

Mass Picket Line Circles GM But No Violence Is Reported

By The Associated Press

A pay increase of 15 cents an hour was offered the CIO's United Auto Workers by the Ford Motor company today and the union promptly rejected it.

The company combined its wage offer with a demand on the union for a "company security" arrangement, involving fines up to $5,000 for "illegitimate strikes."

Richard T. Leonard, Ford director for the UAW-CIO, announced immediately after a reading of the company proposals that Ford's offer was "completely unacceptable to the union."

Ford said its offer would represent a 12.4 per cent increase and a total of approximately $33,000,000 a year. In its last employment figures the company said it had 109,000 employes.

The Ford offer compared with a 10 per cent increase offered the UAW-CIO by General Motors corporation. This has been estimated at 13½ cents an hour.

While union negotiators announced their rejection of the Ford proposal, they said discussions would be resumed Thursday.

After its rejection of General Motors' 10 per cent offer, the UAW-CIO went on strike against GM Nov. 21 and 175,000 production workers have since been idle in the wage stalemate.

600 Mass Pickets

Some 600 pickets of the UAW, circling close to three main gates, prevented office employes from entering the plant of the AC Sparkplug division of General Motors in Flint, Mich.

The white collar workers, numbering about 150, stood across the street from the gates and Police Chief James T. Byars said no effort would be made to break the picket line. Last night Byars said he had been assured by the union that pickets would not attempt to prevent workers from entering.

Shortly thereafter, Al Langlois, chief of the AC plant protection department, said all the workers had been told to go home "because the police will give us no protection."

In Pontiac, General Motors asked Oakland county circuit court for injunctions against "illegal picketing," interference with lawful operations and entry to its property at the Pontiac motor division and Fisher division plants. Summonses were issued but no date was set for a hearing on a temporary injunction.

The petition also asked damages from the union for losses already sustained and that pickets be enjoined from molesting workers.

General Motors, in a letter to the union, listed a dozen demands it said must be met when a new collective bargaining agreement is made.

New York 'Tube' Crashes; 1 Dead, 49 Others Hurt

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 18 (AP)—A Hudson and Manhattan tube train, carrying nearly 1,000 home-bound commuters from New York, crashed last night into the raised center span of a lift bridge over the Passaic river—only 100 feet from its Newark destination—killing the motorman and injuring at least 40 passengers.

Eugene Dubois, public relations executive of the Pennsylvania railroad, of which the H. & M. is an affiliate, said the seven-car train apparently passed stop signals and the "smash board," which gives extra warning that the span is closed to train traffic. Dubois set the time of the accident at 6:37 p. m., adding that the signals were in proper working order at the time.

Police Chief Philip Siebold of Newark said the lift section of the bridge was four feet short of closing, after being raised for passage of a ship, when the head car of the train jammed into the opening. The first car buckled in the middle and the second car partially telescoped it.

Senate Urges No Curb On Jew Immigration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (U.P.) — A defiant senate was on record today as favoring unlimited immigration of Jews into Palestine.

By an overwhelming voice vote, it adopted a resolution asking the United States government to use its good offices to that end.

In doing so, the senate defied the wishes of both President Truman and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. They wanted it to delay action at least until the recently-appointed Anglo-American committee could carry out its study of the Palestine problem. This would be within 20 days.

The senate would not wait. It continued its session well past the dinner hour last night in order to pass the resolution in the midst of a pre-holiday rush of legislation.

Ignores Warning

The senate brushed aside a warning that the action might lead to American involvement in a religious war in the middle-east. The warning came from Sen. Thomas C. Hart, R., Conn., who offered a watered-down version of the resolution. He mustered some support, but was defeated easily by a voice vote.

He said that before approving the stronger resolution, the senate should decide (1) whether the U. S. [illegible] forces to help put [illegible] Palestine [illegible] be [illegible] such a mission.

May Not Be Prepared

"We face the danger of serious involvement for which we may not be prepared," Hart said. "Are we fair in asking Britain to take measures which to the Arabs will seem extreme and which will vitally affect their interests, unless we are prepared to join Britain in accepting responsibility for whatever involvement may result?"

The resolution seeks to open Palestine to Jewish immigration "to the maximum of its agricultural and economic potentialities."

Sharp Reply Greets Graft Rumors Here

Mayor Bert A. Sweet, irked by reports reaching him that the city had fixed a low annual license fee of $10 for liquor locker clubs in Twin Falls because the administration was getting a "rake-off" from operators of the establishments, denied the accusations at Monday night's council session.

He polled the commissioners, the chief of police and the city attorney. All denied receiving any bribes.

"I wish the persons who are circulating such reports would either produce evidence to back up their claims or keep their damn mouths shut," added the mayor.

Commissioner W. W. Thomas remarked that each of the locker clubs have posted a $2,000 bond [illegible] assure their compliance with the ordinance allowing operation of the spots.

"If any citizen of Twin Falls has evidence of violations at the locker clubs, he should present that evidence to the officials. It would mean $2,000 for the city treasury. If he knows of violations and conceals the evidence he is not a good citizen," added Thomas.

Truman T. Greenhalgh, commissioner of city streets, was authorized to proceed with plans for construction of a new sewer line in Twin Falls that will serve areas that do not now have that facility and also will relieve the overburdened two main trunk lines.

First step in the project will be testing of some 120 holes along the proposed route of the new sewer. They will be dug to determine depth of rock formations so that engineers will know what actual construction work will be required to complete the project.

Lonnie E. Smith has offered to dig the holes, replace fences and fill the holes after the needed information is obtained at a cost of $9 per hole.

Art Shank of the Duffy Reed Construction company offered to take the job on a cost-plus basis or a $10 per hour basis, the council was informed. Smith will likely get the contract, councilmen indicated.

Buy Trailers

Twin Falls commissioners Monday night authorized drawing of a check for $1,200 for purchasing trailer units to be moved here from the state of Washington and set up in the Washington courts area to relieve the acute housing shortage for war vets and their families.

Mayor Bert A. Sweet said movement of the trailers to Twin Falls would start immediately after Christmas.

Flu, Measles Shut Schools

HAGERMAN, Dec. 18—Hagerman schools closed this morning because of an outbreak of flu and measles, according to Ole Prince, superintendent.

The schools will remain closed until Dec. 31. The annual Christmas program planned for the community has been postponed. More than one third of the pupils and a number of teachers have been absent because of illness.

FLU SWEEPS IDAHO

BOISE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Influenza in epidemic proportion is sweeping Idaho, with 104 new cases reported by physicians over the week-end, John W. Wright, director of vital statistics of the state department of public health, said today. The largest concentration has been in Ada, Canyon, Bannock, Bonneville, Nez Perce, Boundary and Bonner counties.

PLENTY HERE

Although specific figures were lacking, the number of flu cases in Twin Falls was said Tuesday to be considerable. Measles, too, showed high prevalence. Health unit officials, however, said they had no specific figures at the moment.

GOP Won't Take Her Resignation

BOISE, Dec. 18 (AP)—State Republican Chairman Reilly Atkinson said today the Republican national committee failed to take action at its recent meeting on the resignation of Mrs. Emma Clouchek of Twin Falls as Republican national committeewoman for Idaho.

As a result Mrs. Clouchek remains in the position, Atkinson said, adding he was advised of the failure to act by national GOP chairman Herbert Brownell, jr.

In Twin Falls Tuesday Mrs. Clouchek's comment was brief. "My resignation," she said, "has been in Mr. Brownell's hands since late August."

Mrs. Clouchek was appointed Idaho national committeewoman [illegible] 1931, was elected in 1932 and has been reelected each four years since then. She has sought to retire, however, because she said [illegible] "it's time someone [illegible] the position."

Santa Claus Very Real As City Opens Its Heart and Purse to Needy Family

By AL WEEKS

It's going to be a real merry Christmas at the Twin Falls county residence of a destitute couple and their 11 children who only Monday were without food or fuel.

Residents of this area, upon reading in the Times-News of the couple's plight, opened their hearts—and pocketbooks—to provide for the family of 13.

As a result there was food, fuel and cash in the home Tuesday and not only the small children of the family—the youngest is only one—know there is a Santa Claus, but the parents as well.

First contributor to the family after the county commissioners Monday sent emergency rations to the home, located near the Pole bridge over Rock creek, was R. E. Bobler, who drove to the residence for a personal checkup.

He sat down, wrote a check for $20 and handed it to the father, who is unable to work because of a fractured leg.

The father and husband blinked his eyes to keep back the tears. His wife watched the scene in silence. The children didn't understand, but somehow they sensed the kindness of this stranger in their home. One smiled a bit.

"I can't tell you how much I appreciate this, sir," the disabled father said. "Some day I'll pay it back to you."

"You don't owe me anything. I feel better to know that I've helped out," replied Bobler. "That's pay enough for me—seeing that your family is warm and fed properly."

Phone Rings Constantly

Back at the court house in Twin Falls the telephone in the commissioners office was ringing constantly with persons who had read in the Times-News of the dire circumstances of the family—a father disabled by injury, a mother in ill health and only recently discharged from the hospital. All wanted to help.

Some took the address of the couple. Others said they would bring their gifts to the court house. All were deeply concerned for the comfort of the family of 13.

Commissioner Kenyon Green reported that a group of citizens from Filer telephoned that they had obtained contributions enough to send the family a ton of coal.

C. C. Anderson company sent the family a gift certificate calling for $25 worth of goods with which to make the children—and mother, too—new wearing apparel.

The Pepsi-Cola Bottling company telephoned that they were sending out a huge box of groceries.

Lora Roberts, clerk of the commissioners, with John N. Grimes, director of the weed office, answered countless calls from per-

Search Made For 6 Fliers In Blizzard

RAWLINS, Wyo., Dec. 18 (AP) — Hastily mobilized searchers spread through sparsely settled, rugged plains of southcentral Wyoming today hunting six airmen who bailed out of a disabled army bomber during a snowstorm driven by a 35-mile wind.

The plane's pilot, identified by the army air forces technical service command at Cheyenne, Wyo., as Lieut. Roy L. West (home town unavailable), who made a successful crash landing of the twin-engined B-25 plane yesterday afternoon, two minutes after the last of his men parachuted, accompanied the searchers last night but was forced to retire early today. He was put under a physician's care at Sinclair.

During the night the searchers set out flares on high points of ground hoping to attract the airmen if they were close at hand.

One party started for the plane in the belief the men may have seen it come to earth and would head toward it.

A party of 30 soldiers was rushed from Fort Francis E. Warren at Cheyenne, to join the search.

After crash landing the plane, the pilot made his way over 10 miles of rough country to Sinclair, to report the mishap, arriving after 7 p.m., mountain standard time. Under-Sheriff John Terrill hastily recruited 50 searchers here and at Sinclair.

Two parties left Sinclair working south and east along the North Platte river. A third, from Rawlins, worked south and east toward Sinclair.

Paul Pioneer Dies at Boise

PAUL, Dec. 18 — Henry William Grimm, 65, pioneer resident of the Paul community and operator of the hotel here, died late yesterday at Boise a few minutes after he collapsed at Eighth and Main streets there from a heart attack.

He was on his way to St. Luke's hospital to receive treatment for the heart ailment at the time he was stricken, his son having driven him to the state capital for that purpose.

He and his son had arrived in Boise only a few minutes before. Although rushed to the hospital, he never regained consciousness and died about 4 p. m.

Born in Iowa on June 6, 1880, Mr. Grimm moved with his family to Oregon when he was eight and came to Idaho in 1905. He homesteaded on a farm near Paul. During the first World war he moved into Paul to operate the hotel. He was married to Rosa Otjen in Woodburn, Ore., in 1902. Mrs. Grimm died in 1921.

He was an active member of the Trinity Lutheran church at Rupert and was an elder in the church at the time of his death.

For years he was one of the largest farmers in this section, trying out and establishing many new farm methods which later were adopted throughout this area. Always progressive, he was one of the first to put acreage in hops here and was a strong supporter of the sugar factory here.

He built the hotel which he operated and which was considered one of the finest in this section at the time. Much of his work, although termed of great value to the community, wound up as a financial loss to him.

He is survived by one son, Monroe Grimm; two daughters, Mrs. Mathilda Kock and Mrs. Viola Bill, all of Paul; one sister, Mrs. Anna Stansbery, Portland, Ore., and 15 grandchildren. Another son, Junior Grim, was killed in action in Germany.

Funeral services are not complete but will be held at the Trinity Lutheran church in Rupert. The Goodman mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Gambling Charges Admitted by Man

George Hartley, Buhl filling station operator, pleaded guilty in probate court here Tuesday to operating a poker game.

Judge C. A. Bailey said he would pronounce sentence at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Sheriff Warren W. Lowery arrested Hartley at 3:30 a. m. Tuesday in quarters adjoining his station. He said a poker game was in progress in which Hartley was taking a cut from each hand played.

The players were not arrested.

Othman Views Hollywood As UNO's Capital

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (UP) — Last word from London is that the United Nations boys are in a mess, trying to decide where to set up their tents in America. They're almost reduced to blindfolding a Goldwyn girl and having her stick a pin in a map of the U. S. A.

OTHMAN

The pin-hole would be the site for the white marble palaces of the UNO and the Boosters' clubs from the 40-odd places which want to be headquarters wouldn't be insulted. That's one method, diplomats, but a better way is to get some impartial advice.

Old rolling-stone Othman, rider of patrol wagons and follower of fire engines across the land these many years, is the fellow to give it to you. Let's consider first St. Louis, my home town.

St. Louis, gentlemen of the United Nations, contains the world's biggest brewery, with free beer and free lunch on tap daily for visitors. If you statesmen like cheese cake, pigs knuckles, and liberty cabbage, St. Louis is the place.

No Spats in Chicago

Chicago is a great city, too, gents, but I don't know whether its for you. It takes a brave man to wear spats in Chicago. Striped trousers don't go so well there either. It's a lusty town, even though it's fresh out of gangsters, but leave your fancy pants at home to enjoy it.

Baltimore, friends, is the place where oysters come in assorted flavors and ladies spend Saturday morning scrubbing their front steps. In summer you can buy crabcakes for a nickle from the street peddlers. There's good eating, cheap, in Baltimore.

I don't know how well-heeled you diplomats are, but if you run short of pin money, Denver is your place. You can prospect for gold in Cherry creek. Or sink a silver mine outside of town.

Claremore, Okla., should be inspirational. This is where Will Rogers came from; he was no slouch, himself, as a statesman. It is breezy in Claremore and the drinking water is excellent.

Bell Goes "Pflung"

If it's cultural background you want, give Philadelphia a look. Here is where the mayor takes a padded hammer and rings the liberty bell on state occasions; it sounds, "pflung." The best fish restaurant in America, bar none, is in Philadelphia.

Then, fellows, there is a locality called the Bronx, which loves you. Only I don't know whether you'd love the Bronx. One block looks like another block in the Bronx and of all the places to get lost, like a mouse in a Russian scientist's maze, the Bronx is it.

If you want to be surrounded by plenty of nothing except scenery and fresh air, take the Black hills. Should you be thinking about Boston, I urge that first you see a play called "The Late George Apley." I never have eaten first class Boston baked beans in Boston, but maybe you caviar boys don't like beans.

You have seen San Francisco for yourselves and you must admit its quite a place, but why it wants you I don't know. It's got so many people already, pedestrians have to travel piggy-back on Market street. That may be a temporary condition. Where else can you have fun riding cable cars?

Hollywood has its points. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer could throw you up a pink plaster headquarters with gold doorknobs overnight. Warner Brothers could furnish it with antiques and petit point in 30 minutes flat. Paramount could place a sweater girl at every typewriter. No obligation, either, except to give the movie boys a credit line in your official program.

I hope this has been helpful, United Nations. If you need any further lowdown, shoot me a cable. Prepaid.

Discharges

DECREE OF DISTRIBUTION

According to a probate court decree of final distribution recorded Tuesday, the estate of Nathan H. White, who died in Idaho Oct. 11, 1944, was given entirely to his widow, Mrs. Eva Fern White, Twin Falls. Other heirs are two sons. The property consisted of a lot on Fifth avenue east near Fourth street east and furniture.

Now He Can Say It: He Helped in Atom Research

He can say it now—but couldn't for more than a year and a half.

George F. Sprague, jr., army research expert until his discharge Nov. 30, has been working in the medical research end of the atomic bomb project. He knew what the goal was as far back as January, 1944—but his lips were sealed.

Sprague arrived Monday afternoon from Rochester, N. Y., and expects to return there in about three weeks to continue his research activities in civilian status in laboratories of the University of Rochester. He is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Sprague, sr., 915 Shoshone street north.

Formerly an instructor at Twin Falls junior and senior high schools, Sprague entered the army in July of 1942 and because of his knowledge of chemistry was assigned to the chemical warfare service. He was concluding advanced training at University of Illinois chemical laboratories, Champaign, Ill., when he and a number of others were chosen for the atomic bomb research—"project Manhattan."

"We hadn't the faintest idea of what they were picking us for," he said. "In fact, from the designation 'Manhattan' we actually figured we were going to New York City."

Sprague, then a technician fourth grade, was discharged at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

His sister, Jean M. Sprague, editor with the Federal Register at Washington, D. C., is expected home Thursday. Her arrival will complete a family Christmas reunion—and will mark the first time the entire family has been together since prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor.

James Bellville Dies at His Home

He farmed near Twin Falls until 1933 when he retired. His wife, Luella May Bellville, preceded him in death Nov. 21, 1933. He was a member of the Baptist church, the Odd Fellow lodge for 70 years and the Masonic lodge for 50 years.

Survivors include one son, James P. Bellville, route two, Twin Falls; two daughters, Laura M. Bellville, Cincinnati, O., and Mrs Bertha Haag, Spokane, Wash.

Railman Hurt in Highway Mishap

William Kinrad, 30, Wells, Nev., employe of the Union Pacific railroad company, was admitted to the Twin Falls county hospital yesterday afternoon after he was brought here by ambulance from Contact, Nev., following an auto accident near that city earlier in the day.

His physician said that Kinrad, whose car rolled over a number of times after being forced from the road by another car which had assertedly been stolen, suffered severe back injuries "but apparently no fractures."

Kinrad was chasing the stolen car when the accident occurred, his doctor said. No further details were available, except that "Kinrad apparently took on the job of apprehending the car thief without orders from anyone."

Divorce Suit Filed

GI Rights

WASHINGTON—Here are some questions on the return of men overseas and their discharges from the service:

Q. My brother is in the sixth marine division, headquarters company, sixth service battalion. He has 56 points and now is stationed in Tsingtao, China. When will he be returned home? How long does the trip take?

A. The sixth marine division is on occupation duty. Nobody could tell here what chance a 56-point man would have for screening out and coming home. It shouldn't be too long, however, inasmuch as the discharge score is 50 for marines. The trip home should take three to four weeks.

Q. My son is in Marseille, France, waiting to come home. He has 76 points, five battle stars and the purple heart. He is in company D, 344th engineer regiment. Can you tell me where that unit is and when it will sail?

A. The outfit is in Calais, France. It has been alerted for sailing since the end of October. It should be coming back soon.

Q. My husband has been in the army 26 months, and overseas 14 months. He is in headquarters battery, 135th AA gun battalion. Where is his outfit now and when will it be returned to the States?

A. The unit you say your husband is with is at Vemeden, Germany, on occupation duty. No date has been set for its return. Your husband's return will depend on his point score.

Q. Can you tell me when the 10th air force which was in Calcutta will be returned?

A. The 10th air force headquarters is now in Kunming, China, with a detachment at Piadoba. No date has been set for its return.

Angle Parking to Be Tried in City

Thirty degree angle parking instead of the present 45 degree spaces in the downtown area won favor among Mayor Bert A. Sweet, commissioners and Police Chief Howard W. Gillette at Monday night's council session.

They indicated they would make tests in one or two blocks in the near future to determine if such type parking would prove advantageous throughout the downtown section.

The plan was offered by Commissioner Orville H. Coleman who said that it would provide an additional seven feet of space for travel in the traffic lanes of the street.

Its disadvantages, he said, would be that 12 or 13 parking spaces would be lost in each block because of the increased angle.

He believed, however, that the space gained for travel would offset this loss of parking spaces.

"It's worth trying," the mayor said.

Dinner Nets Big Sum for Hospital

JEROME, Dec. 18 — At a benefit dinner arranged at the American Legion home, $1,125 was realized. The entire amount will go toward the Jerome Community hospital fund, it was announced.

The dinner, which was comprised of corned beef and cabbage, Boston baked beans and old fashioned corn bread and other seasonal foods, was in charge of John Hartshorn, Jerome, businessman.

It was announced that a $100 pledge toward the drive had been made by H. S. Lavander, Twin Falls, of the Pepsi-Cola bottling works, who received one of the invitations to attend the dinner. Mr. Lavander said he would not be able to attend the affair, but "put us down for a $100 pledge."

2,334 Cans of Food Collected For Europeans

JEROME, Dec. 18—There were 2,334 cans of all kinds of foods received here at St. Jerome's parish, to be shipped overseas to the needy-deserving peoples of Europe and the far east. Members of the Holy Name society, following their meeting Thursday, packed and labeled the foods. Father Schermanson expressed his appreciation to all those persons who contributed, including the residents of non-Catholic faith; to the Jerome Food Products company, for the free use of the binding machine and sealer equipment, and to Tom Barga and G. Paul Smith and all others who assisted in this worthy project.

At their meeting, the Holy Name society members planned their annual communion supper for the evening of Jan. 20. It will be held at the American Legion home. Members of the Catholic Women's league will arrange plans for the dinner.

Potato Shipments Down but Average 981 Carloads Daily

By FITZ'S POTATO SERVICE

Florida showed up with her first car of potatoes on Dec. 7 and more will be coming from Florida and Texas although movement will not reach any volume for several weeks. However, the past several days have brought an upsurge of active interest in seed for southern planting. Seed buyers either were apathetic or cagey earlier this season and failed to contract their usual quantity of seed potatoes. Now with car shortages becoming even more acute, they have come to life and are starting to clamor for deliveries. This may spell trouble ahead due to competition for cars between shipment of seed and table stock.

Last week's shipments were down 145 cars from the previous week's revised total of 1,005. Daily average was 981. That is a good figure, considering it includes only 98 government cars but shipments to Canada are heavy, and we can assume that domestic consumption still is below what it should be. Thanksgiving slump hasn't shown its customary mild recovery for the Christmas trade. Idaho shipments were down 209 cars offset by Maine's increase of 227. North Dakota fell off 45 cars, Oregon 113, while Michigan and Minnesota showed small increases. Changes in other states were relatively unimportant. Week shows a slight gain on last season's total to date. Omitting Long Island and Washington, we are now only 4,243 cars behind last year's shipments to this time.

Demand and Markets

The week has brought no significant changes in markets. Roundup of shipping point data shows most producing areas quoting slow demand and markets about steady, some dull. Brightest spot is Maine, which had good demand and a firm market with prices practically at floor. Idaho reports very few sales running from $2.10 to $2.25 unwashed, about floor to 15 cents over. North Dakota reports a very slow domestic market, most shipments unsold, prices about floor for commercials, no market on No. 1's. Same is true in Wisconsin. Colorado has held steady at 15 to 20 cents below the floor for washed stock. Michigan has practically no domestic market with too few sales during past week to establish a market. Upstate New York keeps its relatively comfortable position at floor. New York terminal prices have held fairly steady for eastern stock, dull on others. Chicago has had several straight days of slow demand and dull trading, with some weakness on Idahos early this week and lack of active interest since.

The car shortage definitely is curtailing shipments from Maine, Red River Valley, Colorado and Idaho. Effects are clear in Maine but with slow demand and dull trading in Idaho, Colorado, North Dakota and Minnesota it is hard to judge the extent to which car shortages are responsible for the retarded movement. Effects at shipping points may show up later. Any way you look at it, the real consumer demand just isn't there and if it were not for government export deals and car shortages, the markets might look much worse, and probably will toward late December as trading always lags around the holidays.

No change from last week in surplus removal operations. The future of operations in the Philadelphia alcohol plant is in doubt. Diversion continues at the same rate in the mid-west and Maine. Belgian loading still unfinished, but all spuds needed have been bought and delivered to shipside. The first French ship, 400 cars, quickly obtained in mid-west has been loaded. Probably will be more of this business unless car trouble interferes. Canadian business still is brisk, accounting for most shipments from the Red River valley and Michigan, with substantial portion of Canadian exports from Maine. Rumor has it that the original deal for 6,000 cars may be increased considerably, perhaps to 10,000 or 12,000 cars, although official Canadian crop report for November is up a million or two million bushels from previous estimates.

A few weeks ago we said that cars would be short all season, but probably adequate. Now it looks as though we were too optimistic. The car situation really is bad with no sign of immediate improvement. Strenuous efforts are under way to effect relief, but all southern and western perishables now are way short of needs for cars. Some observers think they are getting and will get more than their proper share. Situation needs watching because of two possible effects: (1) Interference with seed shipments, which now are assuming importance and will become increasingly important from now to April; (2) Contraction of market supplies to small enough volume to jump prices to or above ex-ceilings. The latter is not too likely, but could happen. In any event, a slow-down of movement can have only one effect on spring clean-up prospects . . . which will not be good unless the potatoes continue to move freely.

1946 Price Support Program

USDA announced price support program for 1946 on December 8. In general it is not much different from previous programs, but probably much less tasty to growers. Essential differences are (1) price is on "U. S. No. 1 quality, in bulk, loaded on board truck at farmer's gate." Earlier programs had it "U. S. No. 1 grade, sacked and loaded on board carrier in new or renovated used bags, in carloads." (2) No commitment on low grades with respect to either price or manner of support. Low grades will get support, if needed, but in ways and at prices appropriate to the circumstances existing at the time.

USDA state offices have received 1946 goal material for both early and late crops. Information is not really public yet, but calls for a total 1946 production of 378 million bushels, about what we guessed earlier. This means a sharp cutback from the 1945 production.

RUPERT OFFICER PROMOTED

Indonesians' Freedom Seen As Dangerous

BATAVIA, Dec. 18 (AP)—The man who represented the Netherlands government at the Japanese surrender in Tokyo bay believed that an independent Indonesia "would be a permanent menace to peace in the Pacific."

Blunt, outspoken Adm. Sir Conrad Helfrich, commander of the Netherlands East Indies armed forces, told the Associated Press that "from a strategic point of view," such a country couldn't possibly defend itself.

"Anyone who thinks this would be an independent state is wrong," Helfrich declared, "because the islands' 137 different tribes and population groups would fight each other. As examples, already the Manadonese and the Ambonese don't like Soekarno, and the Batam district in West Java declared itself independent of the Soekarno government.

"In my opinion—perhaps I am one of the naughty boys about it—the name Indonesia means nothing," he said. It's absolute nonsense."

"I still like the old name of Netherlands East Indies," the admiral said. "It means that the government of the Netherlands got together all of these different groups and nothing else can keep them together."

It was the first time Helfrich had been interviewed since his return to Java. He had declined previous press requests on the grounds that the allied area commanders should do the talking. Now he wanted to reply to accusations of Dutch looting.

"Java has been more spoiled in the last three months than during the three and a half years under the Japs," the admiral declared. "Looting would be an absolutely natural reaction; and I am only surprised there is so little of it—they speak of only seven arrests at Bandoeng instead of 700.

"Most of the houses, cars, industries, enterprises, estates, ships, trains and offices in Java really belong to the Dutch and are managed by Dutch people.

"What we found after the Japanese surrender were the Dutch people as human wrecks in camps while the Indonesians were living in big houses with our furniture, driving our cars, running public works with our machinery and industries with our materials."

POT SHOTS

LIGHTS AND OUR CLEAR WESTERN AIR

The "great white ways" of Chicago and St. Looey aren't the glittering lights that pudgy George Redmond, Ye Olde Sport Scrivener of the T-N, knew before his footsteps turned west toward Twin Falls and the Magic Valley.

That much YOSS told us he found on his visit to the midwest. Pudgy tells us that those Chicago and St. Looey lights, unbolstered by the clear atmosphere of our own west, "all appeared about to do a blackout" compared to the way things shine out here.

And that, says YOSS, wasn't all. The last month's movies in Twin Falls and south Idaho, such as "Duffy's Tavern" and "Week-End at the Waldorf," were the feature attractions just last week in Chicago and St. Looey, respectively. And at the No. 1 movie palaces, too.

YOSS chewed the fat with a number of his old newspaper cronies, had a good time doing it, was offered employment all along the line—but found he'd left his heart back here in Magic Valley.

BOOK

Dear Pot Shots:

I enjoy your column very much and could not fail to notice that you seem to be able to help people find articles otherwise unobtainable. Perhaps you can help me also. My favorite book shop has been trying for a couple of years to get a book that seems to be out of print. It is "Idaho: A Guide in Words and Pictures," edited by Vardis Fisher, Caxton Printers. The original price was $3.50. This may have been a federal writers' project book. If not I would also like their book, if there is such a book.

Perhaps someone of your readers has a copy he would consider selling.

Here's hoping for a book — or books. Am enclosing an envelope just in case.

Pinup Honors For Calendars To Boy Scouts

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 18 (U.P.)—In the GI tradition, there'll be plenty of pinup girl art on the 1946 calendars but top place in picture subject popularity still was held today by the Boy Scouts.

The curves of a luscious pinup girl will grace many a date-plate, a spokesman of Brown and Bigelow, world's biggest calendar maker, said. Yet a survey by the firm showed that the largest selling illustration remains Norman Rockwell's annual official Boy Scout calendar cover.

The calendar expert pooh-poohed an idea that demobilization of the armed forces had given civilians a wolfs-blood transfusion and a greater yen for the whistle type of calendar art.

During the war, he said, the firm was swamped with requests for calendar covers from service personnel—starved for a sight of the feminine form.

Strangely enough, pinup girl pictures ran a close race with outdoor sports illustrations for GI popularity.

Pinups in the Flesh

Such requests have dropped to almost nil now that soldiers and sailors are returning to their wives and sweethearts—their pinups in the flesh.

But the pretty girl calendar motif will never be neglected, with Brown and Bigelow's high-paid stable of figure artists—Rolf Armstrong, Zoe Mozert and Earl Moran—still turning out most of the covers.

The survey also revealed that religious-theme calendar illustrations, always near the top, are gaining in popularity. There is no known reason for this, but the firm hazarded a guess that uncertainty of the war years had something to do with it.

Two other points stand out in Brown and Bigelow's sales analysis. One is that the calendar-gazing public likes quality in both subjects and reproduction, the other that there is no such thing as "localized appeal."

Employment Sought For Returned Vets

JEROME, Dec. 18—R. S. Cutler, head of the USES office in Jerome has requested that all employers who have any kind of positions or jobs open which they might offer to returned servicemen, to contact his office immediately.

"Many servicemen are returning home and there is no work for them," Cutler said, in making the plea to have his office notified.

Deadline Nears

JEROME, Dec. 18—County treasurer Gladys Emberton announced this week that the deadline for payment of all or half of the 1945 personal and property taxes, without penalty, is Monday, Dec. 24. Taxes following that date will be subject to a two per cent penalty, she said. In case half payments are made, the balance will fall due June 24. Mrs. Emberton declared that tax payments so far this month have been very good.

CORRECTION

Last Friday's advertisement regarding the benefit dance held on behalf of the Albert Mullins family was inadvertently incorrect. No member of the family was injured. Property damage was the loss incurred.

30,000 Kids In U. S. Need Foster Homes

By TRUDI McCULLOUGH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—At least 30,000 U. S. children are in need of foster homes, the Child Welfare League of America, Inc., reports.

On the basis of a nationwide study, the league's board of directors has submitted a resolution to President Truman recommending a federal department of welfare, with cabinet status, to coordinate and strengthen the existing welfare, health and education services, currently scattered all over the government domain.

The lack of adequate foster care has led to increased immorality with the exploitation of youth even more prevalent than in wartime, the league reports.

There has been an enormous increase in the detention of children in jails, says Leonard W. Mayo, the league's president. The offenses for which they are committed are, in order of prevalence: (1) Petty thievery, (2) running away, (3) sex offenses, (4) crimes of violence. And in 66 2/3 per cent of U. S. communities, detention facilities for foster children are so scarce that they are confined in regular jails.

In so far as institutional care for dependent and neglected children is concerned the report states that 500 of these institutions are obsolete and lacking in leadership and resources; another 500 or more are operating with wornout or obsolete facilities, and many in a third group of 500 need extensive repairs and replacements of plant and equipment.

There is further a shortage of capable trained personnel, doctors, nurses, social workers.

It will take 50 new institutions, the report estimates, to supply the necessary care.

Mayo, chairman of the federal commission on children in wartime and dean of western reserve university's school of social applied science, advocates spending more than $50,000,000 on institutional construction during the next two years.

The child care service now being rendered by the 48 states is inadequate to maintain the nation's children at traditional levels set by American standards, says the league.

Current evils stemming from the lack of foster care, according to the report, include serious lapses of enforcement in school attendance and child labor laws. Over 3,000,000 school age children are not now attending school.

Home Is Part of Front in GM Strike

There was a strange silence at the dinner table the night John McIntosh brought home news of a strike against General Motors.

After the children had been put to bed, he and his wife sat up far into the night, counting resources, trying to figure the future.

Sleep was short—at 5 a. m. John was awakened for picketing.

In a nearby restaurant, John met with UAW-CIO picket captains, got instructions for the day.

Six a. m.—and John starts his three-hour tour of duty on the picket line before the GM plant.

Trading the workbench for the picket line has brought the repercussions of industrial strife into the homes of some 40,000 UAW-CIO members in Detroit. To greater or less degree, the story of the McIntosh family, pictured above, is the story of all. A General Motors worker in Detroit for 10 years, 35-year-old John J. McIntosh is now out on strike with fellow-members of Local 174. Doing her part on the home front is his wife, Helen, 31, a Detroit girl who married him 10 years ago. McIntosh was born in Pittsburgh and raised in Rosemont, W. Va. They have five children, four boys and a girl, with another baby expected soon. The McIntoshes live in a two-story frame house in the outskirts of Detroit, a couple of blocks from the huge Turnstedt Manufacturing company (a GM supplier) where John, a paint sprayer by trade, worked on auto body hardware until the strike call. The couple lives in six rooms on the ground floor, sharing the house with another family. They are buying the house, paying $35 a month on interest and principal, with gas, electricity and other utilities extra. When working, McIntosh averaged something over $48 a week and so far they have not missed a payment. They hope that because of the strike they won't have to. But they have no cash reserve to speak of and have been cashing in their war bonds for household expenses, including a coal supply. The UAW-CIO has announced that it will not pay the strikers regular strike benefit money, but will see that no striker's family goes hungry or suffers eviction. The McIntoshes are relying on the union promise in case the walkout lasts long enough to exhaust their money and put them behind on their house payments. As a striker, John takes his regular three-hour tour of picket duty in front of the Turnstedt plant. Due on the line at 6 a. m., he rises at 5, Mrs. McIntosh getting up a half hour earlier to get his breakfast started. She has a cup of coffee with him, sees him off and then turns her attention to the children, the younger of whom have to be washed and dressed. These are Harry, 2, and Dick, 4. The girl, Mary Ann, is 7, and the older boys, who go to school, are Donald 9, and Tom, 6.

Here's Trip of Idahoan Who Took Heifers Over to Europe

By LORAYNE ORTON

Encountering an army officer who could bring an Austrian pony aboard ship and another who had to leave a beautiful German police dog in France, cleaning decks to the satisfaction of the army and peeling potatoes on the trip home "just for something to do" were part of the experiences of an Idaho hostler who accompanied the first shipment of cattle sent from Idaho to Europe in August in the heifer-for-relief project of the national Church of the Brethren.

Franklin Flory, Nampa, sophomore at McPherson college, McPherson, Kan., a Brethren church college, who left his home town Aug. 8, describes in a ship's log the events of the round trip which took around three months.

Others Can Go

The Rev. Hugh Garner, publicity director for the heifer project here and pastor of the local church, stated that any young men who can care for cattle and pass the physical exam and are interested in accompanying heifer shipments to Europe should contact him.

On the trip to Europe the attendants had fair living quarters in the liberty ship, SS Zona Gale, commissioned in 1943 for the maritime commission. They slept in the troop quarters. On the way back, enlisted men occupied these quarters so the hostlers had the empty navy quarters.

The Nampa youth writes that yardmen were friendly during his stops across the continent to feed and water the cattle. On V-J day when stores were closed, the yardmen gave him part of their lunches at Connellsville, Pa.

Varied Breeds

The heifers were trucked to a farm at Union Bridge, Md., where there were already 94 head of stock—half Holsteins and the rest Jerseys and Guernseys, with two Ayrshires, two Brown Swiss, a Shorthorn and three grade Herefords.

The Brethren service committee paid the owner, Rees Roop, for the feed and attendants to care for the cattle. Although some of the heifers had been at the assembly point for nearly a month the Idahoan was the first attendant to arrive.

Flory took care of the cattle—which kept increasing in number until there were nearly 200—alone over the first week-end he was there. "Feeding, watering and bedding that many cattle really ran into work," the diary states.

Lots of Help

After the first week attendants "came thick and fast." Heifers came from Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland. The Nampa youth comments in his log that cattle from nearby states were the last ones to arrive.

The Europe-bound cattle were run in a chute from the car to the dock where they were put aboard, one at a time, in a basket. Many of the stevedores never had seen a heifer or cow before so they really had a time, the 18-year-old hostler observed in his diary.

Since most of the men wanted to take care of heifers while aboard ship, Flory volunteered to care for horses, which were more work but a job he preferred, he records in his diary. The horses, which are also donated under Brethren auspices, came from the Dakotas and all had shipping fever.

Five Religious Faiths

The attendants included 13 hostlers, the supervisor and veterinarian, who represented six different states and five religious faiths.

Daily schedule aboard the Zona Gale included arising at 6 a.m. and feeding the stock before breakfast which was at 7:30. Next the heifers were watered and the rest of the day until 3:30 p.m. was occupied by hauling up feed from the ship's hold and cleaning out the stalls.

They dropped anchor at La Havre Sept. 19. The hostlers had been told that after the heifers were unloaded they wouldn't have to do anything, but it turned out that they had to clean the ship to the satisfaction of the army captain in charge. After the stock was unloaded the ship moved up the Seine to Rouen to discharge the rest of the cargo which consisted of new trucks, tractors and other farm equipment and newsprint.

At Rouen the men were met by Eldon Burke, Brethren service representative in France, who arranged for the delivery of the cattle.

Commenting on Paris where they got to see "most of the main points of interest," Flory states that the sheets in the hotel in which they stayed one night were very dirty. Later they learned that the bedding was washed once a month whether it needed it or not!

On the homeward voyage the cargo consisted of wine, champagne, cognac, rabbit skins, wine glasses, Swiss watches and machinery and mail. It was picked up at La Havre in addition to 85 enlisted men and five officers.

The Austrian pony, belonging to one of the officers, was made comfortable in a stall padded with mattresses and canvas, Flory observed. He also remarked in his log that the majority of the service men with whom he talked expressed more dislike of the French than they did of the Germans.

He also records that when peeling spuds and helping the crew he found that they seemed to think the heifer project was a good idea.

The third shipment of cattle for Europe will leave Twin Falls Jan. 15.

Two Appointed, Pair Quits City Positions

Two appointments were made and two resignations accepted by city commissioners here Monday night.

Kenneth Leazer was named filter plant operator and W. D. Pettigrove was appointed a member of the fire department.

Resignations of Ralph Potter and O. A. Kimpton as assistant caretakers of city parks were accepted.

In the American colonies, in 1673, Connecticut adopted branding instead of the death penalty.

Standby Bill Prepared to Favor Labor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (UP) — House foes of the administration's fact-finding labor bill are preparing a "standby" substitute designed to be more acceptable to organized labor, it was learned today.

The group is seeking advice of union lawyers in preparing its substitute. They do not plan to introduce it, however, unless congressional action seems certain on either the administration bill or more drastic labor legislation.

Both senate and house labor committees are delaying work until after the coming congressional recess on the administration bill. Based on a request by Mr. Truman, it would permit him to set up fact-finding boards whenever labor disputes threatened the national economy.

Although all details of the proposed substitute have not been worked out, it would, in general, work on the same thesis as the President's measure — that if the facts of a dispute are common knowledge, public opinion will force the parties to get together and settle their controversy.

The substitute would not ban strikes while fact-finding was underway. A 30-day no-strike provision in the administration bill has been the principal reason for labor's bitter opposition to it.

In general, the substitute would:

1. Set up a permanent fact-finding panel in the department of labor.

2. Authorize the board to investigate the facts of a labor dispute whenever it is requested to do so by both the company and the union involved.

Thus, the fact-finding procedure under the substitute would be entirely voluntary. The administration's bill, on the other hand, would authorize the President to set up a fact-finding board whenever he thought the national interest demanded it.

Increases for Television in Homes Viewed

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 18 (U.P.)—By next summer television receivers costing from less than $200 to $300 will be on the market, Radio Corporation of America has announced.

RCA demonstrated table type receivers at its laboratories yesterday. The black and white pictures were reflected on screens ranging in size from 4½ by 6 inches to 6 by 8 inches.

Company engineers also demonstrated high-frequency color television, but termed it obsolete. Practical color television with an all-electronic system and no moving parts will take about five years to put on the market, engineers said.

Frank M. Felson, executive vice-president of RCA, said that "sometime later" than next summer television receivers featuring pictures projected by lenses and mirrors on at least 15 by 20 inch screens would be available for about $500. They will be able to receive standard, frequency modulation, and short wave broadcasts, he said.

Niles Trammell, president of National Broadcasting company, an RCA subsidiary, said NBC would build an improved television transmitter in New York next year and also build a station in Washington, D. C. that will be followed by stations in Los Angeles, Cleveland, and Chicago, he said.

NBC hopes to have a New York to Washington television network in operation in 1946 and a New York to Boston network in 1947, followed by other region networks and finally growing into a national network.

Spectator Hurt At Basket Game

Last night's basketball game between the Jerome and Twin Falls high schools cost a Twin Falls man two broken ribs and painful bruises.

Taken to the Twin Falls county hospital by ambulance was Herbert J. Alexander, 536 Fifth avenue north, proprietor of the Rogerson coffee shop, who suffered the rib fractures just as the game ended, when the wooden seat structure upon which he was standing collapsed.

According to witnesses, Alexander fell nearly six feet to the floor, his body striking the supports which had upheld the seats.

SO SHE COOKS ON A BONFIRE

This will never happen, but she's got to cook somewhere! And there's absolutely nothing wrong with her beautiful new electric range and other home appliances . . . EXCEPT, that her home was planned without Adequate Wiring.

With wiring too small and too few circuits, power is choked off along the wires, voltage or electrical pressure drops. Then fuses blow, appliances operate inefficiently, lights flicker or dim and cost goes up.

When you build, insist on Adequate Wiring throughout your future home. It's smart and economical.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ivon Price, 321 Second avenue north, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with open house between 2 and 5:30 p.m. Sunday at their home. Friends are invited to call in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Price expect their son, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Price and daughter, Sandra Jean, Boise and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Weaver, Filer, to attend. Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Price are sisters. Mrs. Weaver was bride's maid at the Price wedding and Mr. Weaver was best man.

Coffee and tea services will be at either end of the refreshment table.

The couple was married in Galion, O., Dec. 24, 1895. Mr. and Mrs. Price still have the clipping announcing their marriage that was printed in the Galion Inquirer 50 years ago.

The item stated "A very pleasant wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. Evans on Christmas eve. The contracting parties were Myrtle Evans and C. Ivon Price. The officiating minister was the Rev. Mr. Richards. There were quite a number of guests and after the ceremony a most elaborate supper was served to which all did ample justice.

"After supper came the usual confusion and shouts of regular old fashioned charivari which was participated in by the friends of both the bride and bridegroom and pleasantly received and responded to by the appearance of the newly married couple and liberal treat to the crowd by the bridegroom. The treat consisted of cigars and candy. After numerous congratulations the crowd dispersed as quietly as they came leaving only their best wishes for the bride and bridegroom.

"Miss Evans and Mr. Price are two of our best young people who are sure of many wishes for happiness and long life full of usefulness."

Mr. and Mrs. Price came to Idaho in 1910 and Mr. Price and Mr. Weaver were connected with a land company at that time.

Nazi Bullet Couldn't Keep Brother of Tommy Ryan Off Vandals

A SIX-FOOTER USED TO BE CONSIDERED — A GOOD SIZED BASKETBALL PLAYER..
..BUT NOW WE'RE GETTING THEM AT SIX-SIX..
..AND SIX-FEET-EIGHT..
..EVEN SEVEN FEET!
..AND HEAVEN KNOWS WHAT THE NEXT 10 YEARS WILL BRING!!
NEA

The Ryans are an athletic institution at the University of Idaho. That's what Bob Ryan, first-string guard of the Vandals' powerful basketball team which will play the Idaho Simplots here Wednesday night is putting special emphasis on this season.

Tommy Ryan, who is serving his first season as the junior varsity coach at Jerome high school, revealed last night his brother "made" the Vandal team despite the fact that part of his right hand is paralyzed—the effect of a nazi bullet that penetrated the upper portion of the arm while serving with the American army in France.

Although Bob is only a sophomore, this is his second season with the Vandals, he having won a first string berth while a freshman before entering the armed forces. He is 24 years old, stands an even six feet and weighs 165 pounds.

Ryan is just one of the attractions on the Vandal team, which has won all but one of its contests this season. Another is Jack Phoenix, American Falls player who at six-nine is the tallest player in the Pacific coast conference.

The Vandals' only conqueror was the strong Farragut team whose former all-American, Ken Sailors of Wyoming, made 10 long shots and three field goals to give his team a 58-54 margin.

VANDALS WIN

POCATELLO, Dec. 18 (AP) — The University of Idaho's Vandals came from behind last night to defeat a plucky Pocatello American Legion cage team 34-29 in a hard-fought contest.

Pryne, Idaho guard, led all scorers with 10 points. Ray Isham and Ivan Beem, both of Pocatello, followed with totals of nine and eight, respectively.

SPORTS

ELKS' PIN EVENT HERE

Fred Stone Is Commissioner For Tourney

The Elks' southern Idaho tournament, in which bowlers from Caldwell, Nampa, Boise, Pocatello, Blackfoot, Idaho Falls, Salmon City and Twin Falls are eligible to compete, will be held at the Bowladrome on Jan. 19-20, Fred Stone announced last night.

The announcement was made by Stone after notification that he had been made commissioner of Elks' bowling in southern Idaho by the national organization.

Stone said that the trials would be held at the various cities on Jan. 2 and that three teams would be sent to the state tournament to be held at Lewiston Feb. 1, 2 and 3.

The national tournament will be in Omaha or Kansas City Feb. 22, 23 and 24.

Bowlers averaging in the trials 170 may enter the southern Idaho tournament and those averaging 175 may compete in the state tournament, Stone stated.

The Twin Falls tenpin statistician also revealed that he is arranging for a southern Idaho invitation tournament to be held at the Bowladrome Jan. 4, 5 and 6. Competition will be in singles, doubles and team events.

Reports from the Boise tournament revealed that Stanley Crom and Bus Cowham finished fifth in the doubles with 1,261 and Curley Kleinkopf seventh in the singles with 644. Bill Bowworth and Cowham were ninth in the doubles with 1,255.

PROS TO PLAY ON COAST

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—The Cleveland Rams will appear in Los Angeles coliseum against the Washington Redskins next Sept. 6, it was learned.

Selleck First Player Signed For Play in Pioneer Circuit

When Maury Doerr, president of the Twin Falls Cowboys, accepted the signed contract of Ralph Selleck, San Francisco, former serviceman, to play with the local team on Nov. 30, he had the honor of bringing the first player into the reactivated Pioneer league for the 1946 season.

This was revealed this week by the office of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Selleck was signed by Joe Devine, scout for the New York Yankees, with whom the Cowboys have a working agreement. He is a promising outfielder on whose trail Devine had been for several years.

Cecil Loses Another Major League Chance

Rex Cecil, former Twin Falls Cowboy hurler, apparently has lost another chance for a major league career. After pitching Louisville of the American association to the "little world series" championship over Newark of the International league, Cecil was bought by the Boston Red Sox, with whom he had been early last season.

According to a report from the east, however, the former Cowboy has been bought by the Boston Braves from the Red Sox and turned over to the latter's American association farm at Indianapolis.

The report said: "Rex, who was acquired by the Red Sox from the coast in 1944, had arm trouble and landed in Louisville last year. He pitched well for the Colonels, but apparently Joe Cronin wanted no more of him. Bush and McKinney of Indianapolis felt the same way, but the Braves took Rex and may give him a chance to try his luck as a National leaguer later."

Bishop Top Scorer

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Dec. 18 (AP)—Making his season's debut Gail Bishop, highest scoring cager in the nation last year, sparked the war department training center quintet in a 63-54 win over the Fort Lewis medics in a whirlwind contest.

Despite an evident lack of conditioning Bishop, counted by many as one of basketball's all-time greats, ran up 23 points to lead his teenage teammates to their fourth straight win.

Simplots Will Open Play in New Cage Loop

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—The American Basketball league, a brand new AAU project spanning the west from Kansas City to Los Angeles, has its inaugural tonight. With the San Diego Dons opening against the Salt Lake City Simplot-Deseret team in the Utah city, the farthest-flung AAU circuit in cage annals will embark on a 10-week, 72-game schedule running through Feb. 24.

Other league members are the famed Phillips "66" Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla.; the Denver Ambrose Jellymakers; M and O Cigars, Kansas City; 20th Century-Fox of Hollywood; the Carroll Shamrocks of Los Angeles; Dardi company of San Francisco, and the Sacramento Senators.

Playing a home-and-home slate, each of the nine teams is booked for 16 games. The regular season will be followed by a double elimination tourney involving all teams at Denver from Feb. 25 through March 2.

It's really industrial league basketball on an intersectional scale, with the sponsors avowedly not interested in profits. Most of the receipts have been earmarked for charity.

Most of the teams plan to travel by chartered plane, further proof of the loop's financial backing.

Ye Olde Sport Scrivener, YOSS, the pudgy one, the ancient word puddler and the old typewriter tormentor are all back after a two weeks' vacation and hope to do business at this same old stand for some time to come.

And back from Columbus, where he attended the convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, YOSS brings this information: The kid baseballers of Twin Falls and the Magic Valley will get a real pal when Earl Bolyard arrives to take the reins over the destinies of the Twin Falls Cowboys in the Pioneer league.

One of the first queries that Maury Doerr, president of the Cowboys, put to Bolyard when he sounded out the former Great Lakes star on becoming the local manager was:

"Do you like boys?"

"I love them!" shot back Bolyard.

That one statement did more to clinch the Cowboy job for him than even the recommendation of Mickey Cochrane, the former Detroit manager under whom he played at Great Lakes.

All this means that Coach J. Stuart Halliday will receive a hearty welcome to Jaycee park from Doerr, Bolyard and the other Cowboys when he brings his Bruins to work out for the high school diamond season next spring. So will the Legion players who will come along later.

Doerr is just as much interested in developing the kid baseball players in the Magic Valley as he is in winning a Pioneer league pennant. And that's why he sought out a manager who will sympathize with boyhood's baseball aspirations.

So the kids need not have any worries that the return of organized baseball to Twin Falls will in any way conflict with their program. In fact, the Cowboy management plans to strengthen that program.

And that's that for now except: Tony Robello, former Cowboy manager, was at Columbus. He made no effort to land the Cowboy job, having already signed to pilot Springfield, Ill., in the Three-Eye league for the St. Louis Browns.

Tigers' 3 Final Free Tosses Defeat Bruins

Coach John Norby's Jerome Tigers missed their first eight free throws but caged their last three and these latter meant the old ball game—a 28-25 victory over Coach J. S. Halliday's Twin Falls Bruins here last night.

Jerome took a 6-5 first quarter lead, but trailed, 16-13, at the half. However, the Tigers regained the lead, 23-20, near the close of third period, only to have Jimmy Russell and Web Malone get under their basket for potshots and tie the score. Then came the three free throws.

Accuracy was the deciding factor in the game. Each team made nine field goals, but the Tigers annexed theirs on 36 shots, while the Bruins were taking 42.

Injuries claimed another Bruin regular. A sore ankle kept Billy Matson out of the game.

The evening wasn't all bad for Twin Falls. With Bobby Long setting the pace with seven field goals, Coach Kermit Perrins' Cubs rang up their fifth straight victory, beat the Jerome junior varsity, 37-31. Lee made 16 points for Jerome.

Development Boom Looms For Section

Three to four million dollars will be spent annually for industrial improvement in the Twin Falls area during the next three years, Claude H. Detweiler, chairman of the local committee for economic development, said Monday.

In conference with Lars Carlson, regional manager of the CED, who was in the city Monday making a survey of the economic developments here, Detweiler told Larson and industrial leaders meeting with them, that approximately $1,500,000 has been spent in the Twin Falls area on industrial improvement during the present year.

Recreations Planned

It was further disclosed at the meeting that huge industrial development programs have been planned by the major industries in the northwest and that the recreation industry would become the largest within the next five years. Already large hotels and resort programs are materializing in Seattle, Portland, Spokane, Boise, Salt Lake City and at other points of scenic attraction, Carlson revealed.

Power company expansion programs include: A five million dollar expansion program by the Idaho Power company for 1945 and 1946; another five million dollar program is anticipated by the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company of Utah; and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company has a still larger program for industrial development.

Railroad lines, food processing plants, flour mills and mining companies all have plans for expansion within the next few years, Carlson stated. This will require additional employment throughout the region, the economic specialist pointed out in conference with industrial leaders of Magic Valley.

Construction Needed

The "biggest source of large and immediate employment in this region will be in construction as soon as the lumber strike is settled." In Seattle alone, over 20,000 construction workers are needed. Tacoma will need 8,250 new homes annually for at least the next five years, Carlson declared in his report.

The plywood industry, with its center in the northwest, will have an increase of at least 60 per cent in its postwar national market, Carlson pointed out.

Postwar employment in the northwest will be from one-fifth to one-third greater than in 1940, according to the job surveys made by the committee.

The report of the committee also revealed that 1,500 new firms are being established every month throughout the country.

Trailer Town Utility Setup Assured Now

one pipe under each of the two lines of houses. Also being laid was a water pipe under one row of units. This pipe will dispense drinking water to the whole project.

Leveling has been completed and sites of each trailer have been staked out by Plez B. Wilson, county surveyor and city street superintendent, and John E. Hayes, city engineer.

Each of Mull's trucks can transport two trailers, carrying one and with a second trailing. Quentin Harral, project director, will accompany the trucks and is to inspect each trailer. Mull must finish the job in 24 days and it is expected that all units will be occupied by Jan. 20. Sixty-one applications have been received and will be considered by the Legion housing committee. They will be judged in the order received, but that is not the only basis for judging, Terry said.

The city of Twin Falls is purchasing the trailers and is leasing them to the Legion.

Santa Is Now Very Real to Needy Family

sons wishing to make their contributions.

Early Tuesday afternoon several boxes of food, including meat, were sent from the courthouse to the family. One rancher brought a sack of carrots for the family.

Two women walked in and contributed $1 each. The money will be used to buy additional groceries.

Grimes and Miss Roberts said they would solicit court house employes for donations to be turned over to the family.

John A. Brown, juvenile officer, offered to pick up any packages or donations for the family if contributors find it impossible to bring them to the court house or take them to the family.

Mrs. Nellie Perreten, 143 Fourth avenue north, was baking cookies when she read of the case. She made up an additional box for the needy family.

And even as contributions were being made additional ill luck plagued the needy family.

One of their 11 children—a 16-year-old son — remained out of school Tuesday in the hope that he could take the family truck that has seen better years and make a few dollars for his folks.

Motor Frozen

His intended role of breadwinner for the family failed when he discovered that Monday night's one-degree weather froze the motor of his car. Ice was pushed out through plug holes in the engine block.

No, the family couldn't afford anti-freeze for the truck.

They couldn't even afford coal for their own stove.

Through it all, the wife and mother hadn't forgotten that next week comes Christmas.

Somewhere, somehow, she had managed to locate a tiny tree and place it in the front window of their three room abode.

She'd taken a few ornaments, left from other years, and placed them on the tree. Her kiddies would have that much Christmas anyway.

How she would explain on Christmas morning that Santa had overlooked them, she didn't know.

She doesn't have to worry about that now.

Toys are included in a lot of those gifts that are being distributed.

Yes, it's going to be a real Christmas for an unlucky family of 13.

Board Clerk Resigns

Mrs. Della Thatcher, assistant clerk of Twin Falls county draft board No. 1 since Sept. 1, 1944, has submitted her resignation, effective Dec. 26. She and her two children will join her husband, H. Q. Thatcher, recently discharged from the army, in Klamath Falls, Ore.

World's Record Trout Is Topped In Pend Oreille

BOISE, Dec. 18 (AP)—The newly-crowned "world's biggest trout" caught in Idaho last season was topped a few days after the original announcement when Field and Stream magazine reported today that a 32 pound, 8 ounce rainbow has now been entered in its contest.

The previous record was a 31 pound Kamloop trout crowned 1945 world champion caught Oct. 15 by E. W. Dreisbach of Sandpoint.

The state fish and game department reported today the magazine has now received the new record breaking entry from Laurence Hamilton of Reardon, Wash., who sent a notarized statement that his big rainbow was landed in Pend Oreille lake, Ida., last July 15.

The two 30-pounders were believed to have been spawned in British Columbia but hatched in either Twin Falls or American Falls and then transplanted in the northern Idaho lakes, Burton Perrine, Twin Falls, reported. Perrine was state fish culturist at the time the fish were planted.

Association Will Hear Reports on Retirement Plan

A report on the executive committee meeting of the Idaho Education association held in Boise Sunday will be given by Rebecca Curtin, president of the local organization, at 4:10 p. m. today in room 201 of the high school.

Miss Curtin attended the meeting in Boise and will report, principally, on the teacher retirement plan as outlined by the committee. The teachers "hope to have the plan introduced at the special session of the legislature this winter," Miss Curtin stated, "as Idaho is the only state in the country which does not have a retirement plan for its teachers."

A. W. Morgan, superintendent of city schools, will also give a report on the retirement plan at the meeting this afternoon.

Later Shopping Hours Saturday

Stores will be open until 9 p.m. this Saturday "to accommodate late shoppers," Les Crowley, chairman of the Merchants' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, announced Tuesday.

However on Monday, Christmas eve, stores will close at the usual time, which is 6 p.m., Crowley stated.

Cross Elected by Frontier Riders

Members of the Frontier Riding club, meeting at the court house here Monday night, elected Arnold P. Cross president of their group after approving a constitution and by-laws for incorporating their organization.

C. R. Nelson was named vice-president and Helen Lindeman secretary.

A three-member board of directors was elected. They were Mrs. M. Grootes, to serve for three years, R. P. Parry, two year term, and Hans Thorne, one year.

Although more than a score of club members are also members of the sheriff's mounted posse, the latter organization is not included in the incorporation.

The posse will deal directly with the board of directors for use of drill grounds and rodeo arena space on the 80 acre tract owned by the riding club and located just north of the city.

Guards Drill in Spite of Weather

It was cold in Twin Falls Monday night—but it was a lot colder on the Jerome-Twin Falls rim-to-rim bridge, as any member of Company K, Idaho state guard, will tell you.

The bridge was the scene last night of Company K's guard drill, so if any man in a uniform stopped you in your car and asked you to drive slowly it was probably to guard against striking another state guard who was standing at attention stiffly—with the cold.

Lieut. Orrin Fuller, Company K publicity officer, stated following the guard duty practice that "we are going to cancel our guard meetings for the next two weeks because of the Christmas and New Year holidays."

Next drill period scheduled is for the evening of Jan. 7, 1946, in the American Legion hall, Lieutenant Fuller said.

Check Not Made Good; Man Jailed

Burrell Fajen, 207 Eighth avenue east, was arrested at the Depot grill at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday by Sheriff Warren W. Lowery and city police on a bench warrant for his failure to comply with probate court orders regarding a worthless check issued in Twin Falls.

Fajen had pleaded guilty last month to giving H. B. Horner a worthless check for $27.72. At that time he told Judge C. A. Bailey that he wanted to make the check good.

The judge fined him $5 and $5.40 costs and said that he would remit the fine if the check was paid off before Dec. 1.

The check wasn't made good, Fajen was taken to jail where he will have to serve the fine and court costs out at the rate of $2 per day.

Rotarians to Donate Heifer to Europeans

The Rotary club Tuesday decided at its Park hotel luncheon to donate a heifer to the Church of the Brethren's project of shipping the animals to needy Europeans.

Christmas gifts were exchanged at the session. Because of intervening holidays, the next luncheon meeting will be conducted Jan. 8 in the hotel. There was no speaker.

Man Wanted on Bad Check Count Nabbed

Ralph Thompson, 328 Second avenue east, wanted at Burley on a charge of issuing worthless checks, was arrested at the Depot grill at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday by Sheriff Warren W. Lowery and city police.

Sheriff Saul Clark of Cassia county, was en route to Twin Falls Tuesday afternoon to take custody of the prisoner.

Fire Damages Room

BUHL, Dec. 18—The Buhl fire department made a run to the home of Dr. John Wurster, just beyond the city limits east on highway 30. Mrs. Wurster had lighted a small disinfectant pot in the bathroom, and the curtains caught fire.

Damage was confined to the burning curtains, a blistered wall and smoke damage to the one room. Mrs. Wurster had extinguished the fire when the department arrived.

CAN'T TAX BONDS

BOISE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Idaho may not tax income from federal bonds, Attorney General Frank Langley ruled in an opinion requested by the state income tax director J. G. Vaughn. Langley ruled that the federal constitution prohibits such taxation.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Selected stocks imbibed a little recovery tonic today although many leaders still were a bit shaky as the result of Monday's sharpest market tumble in two years.

Gains of fractions to a point or more predominated after a quiet opening—there were a few broader swings by "thin" issues—but extreme plus marks were reduced here and there near the close and scattered losers appeared. Transfers were around 1,300,000 shares.

Ahead the greater part of the proceedings were N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, St. Paul (when issued) common, Eastern Airlines, Boeing, Paramount Pictures, Warner Brothers, Budd Mfg., U. S. Steel, Chrysler and Kennecott.

Bonds turned a trifle spotty.

FARMERS! CATTLEMEN!

NOW

Krengel's Manure Loader can be mounted on ANY tractor . . . NEW OR OLD . . . provided your tractor is equipped with a power take-off. Moreover, this loader is operated mechanically (a distinct advantage), is so strongly built that it will give years of uninterrupted service, and is manipulated by a single lever. In addition, the heavy-duty bucket which carries the load, is adaptable to different pitches with a lever-tilting ground adjustment. Thus it operates efficiently on flat or rolling terrain.

These features, as you can see, make the Krengel Loader the fastest and most powerful ever offered. What's more, this loader is available with a low frame and high lift for working in sheds. It's other uses are legion, some almost unbelievable.

If you own two tractors, we suggest that you have us mount a Krengel Manure loader on the old one, thus freeing your newer tractor for plowing and other spring work. And for further information, write, wire or phone Krengel's in Twin Falls!

LOADS DIRT AND GRAVEL TOO!

For a small extra charge we will include a false bottom for the bucket—which converts the manure loader into a dirt and gravel mover!

SUGAR. Higher prices and grave shortages of sugar for American housewives will persist for several years unless department of agriculture officials bow to extortionist demands which Cuban producers have made during current negotiations for purchase of the 1946 crop. Any failure to obtain a settlement may force the U. S. to turn to new sources of supply for the long future, with unfortunate results to domestic consumers.

In normal times Cuba provides about thirty per cent of our sugar, the Philippines furnish fifteen per cent and the balance comes from domestic growers, including Hawaii and Puerto Rico. This quota system gave us a nice arrangement in the event failures or economic disturbances shut off the major supply from any one of these areas.

Japan's conquest of the Philippines removed those islands from the picture, and Cuba stepped in to fill the place. The Caribbean Island has sold us slightly more than fifty per cent of our wartime consumption at terrific profits. In some instances they ran as high as 3,000 per cent more than in prewar days, with the benefits going to a few huge companies largely controlled by American financial interests.

Cuba enjoyed a golden boom during the conflict, despite the loss of revenue from tourists and other activities.

• • •

POSITION. Cuban negotiators now in Washington, after a sharp break in the conversations, demand that the fifteen per cent quota normally allotted to the Philippines be given to them permanently. Otherwise, they may refuse to sell the 1946 production to this country and seek higher prices in the world market.

Cuban spokesmen are quite frank in demanding a permanent preferential position in the future trading. One of their spokesman has said:

"The assurances that we ask for are a minimum import quota representing nearly fifty per cent of the domestic prewar consumption in the United States. Our position is based on the fact that while our regular quota of the American market is only 28.6 per cent, we supplied an average of over 50 per cent of its requirements during the last two wars . . .

"We ask, beg and argue, but we do not take the rightful stand that we should. If action by the U. S. Congress is necessary to settle the matter, let us wait for such action before attempting to sell."

• • •

DEPENDENCE—The loss of the Cuban supply would produce a famine or dizzy prices in the United States. Our dependence on this source for so long enables Havana to hold us up under penalty of paying from fifteen to twenty-five cents a pound.

It is doubtful whether the Philippines can be brought into production again for at least three years. It will be some time before Hawaii can raise even as much as she did before December 7, 1941. Puerto Rico, largely due to Governor Rex Tugwell's reforms, will probably grow less rather than more sugar in the next few years. Domestic cane and beet producers will be hard put to it to obtain the necessary labor, machinery and other requirements to boost their output.

Last, any desertion of the Filipinos after their sacrifice and loyalty during the conflict would damage American prestige in China and other sections of the Far East.

• • •

AUTHORITY—General George C. Marshall will have carte blanche to revise the American policy in China and Japan if his studies convince him that far eastern conditions would be improved by any change. It may result in the arrest or deposition of Emperor Hirohito and in a tougher attitude to Chiang Kai-shek's rule.

The former chief of staff will not be authorized to revamp our historic program for China, which seeks the restoration of universal peace and progress in that sprawling country. But he will have authority to recommend that we enlarge our agenda to deal with all parties instead of exclusively with the ruler at Chungking.

The strategic need for depicting him as a democratic reformer and an Oriental hero has disappeared with the defeat of Tokyo. Even Eleanor Roosevelt now talks more frankly about such a distinguished White House guest as Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

• • •

HIROHITO—General Douglas MacArthur's recent moves suggest that he is edging toward a change in Hirohito's status. His latest list of major war criminals, which includes a royal, 71-year-old figurehead as well as bankers, businessmen, teachers, editors and writers, indicates that he will eventually ask for indictment of the emperor.

At the moment General MacArthur's course and that adopted by Robert H. Jackson at the Nuremberg trials are wholly contradictory. Mr. Jackson makes the new claim that the heads of aggressor states should be held personally accountable for their warlike acts. Diplomats do not understand why Hirohito should be held exempt under this sort of reasoning.

NEW YORK—Pursuing the subject of our carelessness and, I believe you could say, our gullibility in publishing certain types of reading matter which have only a doubtful value, if any, as news, in the great, free capitalistic American press, we have to bear down on the Monday morning release. For reasons which a good managing editor or any good press agent could explain better than I could, Monday morning's papers and to a lesser extent, the afternoons, are the planting ground for propaganda and other motivated announcements, official statements and the like.

I understand that there is a superstition that not much hot news occurs on Sundays, Pearl Harbor being an exception, and I do recall that my elders in New York journalism used to explain that a dog-story, meaning a planted publicity story, was a Monday morning thing originated in the old Herald by James Gordon Bennett, who liked to see a piece about a dog on Monday. In time, the Broadway press-agents were pelting the desk with dog-stories and so, for years, that was the tradename for a publicity feature, as perhaps it still is in some circles of our stately profession.

• • •

Wasnt' it on a Sunday that a man who registered as Thomas R. Zann had an enormous crate delivered to his suite in a big Broadway hotel which, when the false sides were let down, proved to contain a veritable lion in a cage? Mr. Zann turned out to be Harry Reichenbach, a press-agent with great imagination whose assumed name suggested the word Tarzan, a moving picture which was about to be revealed. Another which, according to my impression, broke on a Sunday was a patriotic project to burnish the Statue of Liberty with something called beads of gold which, we were to learn, was a patented pot-polish.

The anti-saloon league, in prohibition days, chose Sunday afternoon to release its decrees and nowadays our weakness is known to numberless committees for or against this or that, councils, institutes, leagues and federations.

Most of these organizations are only letter-head groups, with varied rosters of the same old busy-body names stretching down the left side, starting with the President, who may be president, secretary or member of a hundred such. They include lawyers who feel that they have a social mission as well as a need of practice, restless women with time on their hands and an itch for publicity and controversy and college professors, actors and sculptors, always emotional and moody.

A committee, institute or council may have no more integrity than a puff of smoke. Half a dozen men and women who want to promote some project or ism get together, perhaps only by phone, agree on a name, pledge $25 or $50 apiece for stationery and mimeographing and the next Sunday a handout lands on the city desk under a name that looks impressive. If luck is running the right way, it makes print on Monday. Big business firms have been in on the play, too, and a thing called an institute for a certain high-sounding kind of research, which was just a letter-head, created a nice crop of scientific clippings about an impending change in the body-lines of a famous make of automobile.

Practically all members of congress realize that Monday morning is the most promising time for proposals and statements of their position on various matters and, especially during the Roosevelt presidency, certain bureaucrats, including some cabinet officers, had their most original ideas on Sunday which were duly communicated and often made the papers, presumably in larger measure than they would have on other days. It has been observed, too, that Sunday is a sucker day for the radio, some of our highly respected functionaries having pet broadcasters who will describe them as "forceful" or "blunt" or "square-shooting" in return for little bits of exclusive but not necessarily important or newsy information.

This is a peculiarity of ours that Russian critics of the American press, studying our papers through translations and at a great distance, could not be expected to discern. However, their propagandists here, including as they do many renegade Americans of long experience in the areas of our journalism, should have pointed it out to them.

Fiorello LaGuardia, on the other hand, had no excuse for overlooking it in his attempt to rate us below the radio as an avenue of information, because his own present reputation and his consequent earning power as a comedian of the air are the result of his own exploitation of our weakness in his long series of Sunday afternoon antics.

The extent to which he is a creature of publicity was indicated Tuesday, a regular news day, when he got his picture in print two columns wide, biting into an apple.

In July of 1943, automobiles were being scrapped at the rate of 4,000 daily.

NO RANCHES?

PLENTY OF RANCHES, BUT THE PROBLEM IS TO FIND A CATTLE RANCH THAT CAN NOW BE PURCHASED AT SOUND, NORMAL VALUES.

Hundreds of ranches all over the West have changed hands in recent months—some for the first time in a generation. Many of them are being well sold but poorly purchased because the price is too high to permit profitable operation under normal conditions.

WE HAVE FOR SALE 11 CATTLE RANCHES, WELL EQUIPPED, EASILY AND CHEAPLY OPERATED, WITH VARYING YEAR AROUND CARRYING CAPACITIES OF FROM 250 TO 5,000 HEAD. THESE RANCHES ARE LOCATED IN NORTHEASTERN NEVADA IN A SECTION NOTED AS "GOOD CATTLE COUNTRY" EVER SINCE THE BEGINNING OF RANCHING IN THE STATE.

2. SWELL RANCH FOR 500 CATTLE, consists of 2,277 acres deeded land and exclusive right to graze on 27,509 acres Taylor Act land adjoining. Ranch produces 425 tons of hay for winter feeding. Substantial house, good buildings and equipment. Location 2 miles off highway 93 and only 6 miles from railway station.
